He's Third Baseman Topeka Fans Have Long Dreamed Of

One of the biggest contributions the Federal League has made to Topeka is the gentleman below with the big smile.

"Pep-Nat" Goodwin Is Touted as One of the Savage Finds.

Of all the new faces on the Savage team, there is none more pleasant to look upon than that of "Pep-Nat" Goodwin.

And of all the new men, not one fills an important hole so competently and completely as he. He is the third baseman the Topeka team has been looking for ever since Savage took it.

If you have not seen Goodwin in action, it will be your misfortune if you miss the opportunity to do so. He fields his position cleanly and easily, and is a unique find. He never tries to kill the ball when hitting, but merely meets it with a square solid kick that usually gets him safely to first.

Since he first reported here Goodwin has been a victim of the weather and has been laboring with a sore arm, but when he gets into his best playing stride he is able to prove the fielding sensation of the league and ought to hit .300 with ease.

Before joining the Feds he played in the Coast league. He is a college man from California and is one of the new type of high class men who are doing much to elevate baseball.

Goodwin came to Topeka from the Kansas City Federal league club, and he came with every recommendation that a young man of ability could carry. With the Kawfeds he was a utility infielder and was said to be one of the most promising in the league.
